Morrisville trimmed Hardwick on Saturday by a score of 7 to 3, with "Bob" Smith, the former Chicago pitcher, twirling for Hardwick. In seven innings five runs were made off Smith. In view of these facts, they certainly have a great team.

MARRIAGE IN ORCHARD.

Unusual Setting for Wedding With Added Decorations.

Battleboro, July 10.—A novel wedding took place at 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Barrows on Ames Hill, when their daughter, Miss Mabel Fletcher Barrows, was united in marriage to Arthur Wallace Peach, son of Mr. Casper Moran of this town, in the orchard, amid beautiful decorations of evergreen and daisies, by Rev. D. E. Trout, pastor of the Universalist church. The bride entered beneath arches of evergreen on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was gowning in white radium silk over white satin, trimmed with rose point lace, a family heirloom, sent to the bride by a cousin in Chicago. Her only ornament was a diamond pendant, the gift of the bridegroom.

The wedding couple were attended by Miss Emma Barrows, a sister of the bride, and Jay Gordon Peach, a brother of the bridegroom.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Alice Kingman of Framingham, Miss Dorothy Bosworth of Elgin, Ill., and Rev. F. C. Leaning of Biddeford. The bride attended the Battleboro high school and Bradford academy. Mr. Peach is a graduate of the Battleboro high school and Middlebury college. He taught two years at Allen school for boys, West Newton.

Good Man For the Place.

With the resignation of D. L. Morgan as superintendent of the house of correction at Rutland, it is only natural that there should be some casting about for his successor, and the next most natural thing is that Sheriff Frank H. Tracy of Washington county should be prominently mentioned to fill the vacancy. It is no discredit to anyone to say that Mr. Tracy looms large as the best equipped man in Vermont for the position. He has shown himself capable of handling prisoners to their own benefit, as well as to the satisfaction of the state at large. To Mr. Tracy, the prisoner is a man who can be helped, and he has demonstrated that his is the helpful hand. Quietly working at his post as sheriff he has called attention to himself and his methods, not from other counties in Vermont alone, but from all sections of the country. His reputation is not confined to the boundaries of this state, but rather extends to those places where humane and profitable treatment of prisoners is a theme of discussion. Mr. Tracy is such a man as brings out the good in the fallen, and does much to put them on the right path that leads into the future. His methods have worked wonderfully well and with a wider field there is no reason why he should not accomplish greater things. If Mr. Tracy wants the position at Rutland there will have to be some good reasons given if he is passed over.—St. Albans Messenger.
